Find Your Calling...

As you thumb through the pages of this yearbook, full of memories from the past year, you are sure to encounter pictures of students engaged in everything that encompasses student life at CU: academics, athletics, ministry, various clubs, etc. However, when many students come to CU, they are undoubtedly searching for something more than a degree or athletic competition. This past year, like the many years that have come before in the life of CU, students have been searching for some of the most important things in life: lasting friendship, lifetime love, and above all, God's calling for their lives.

2006 is the one hundredth anniversary of this institution, and it is an understatement to say that things have changed in the last century here at CU. Change on the campus was as rapid as ever this past year, as we have seen the completion of the E. Bruce Heilman Student Center, including the new Winters Dining Hall and Davenport Student Commons. We have also seen the birth of Campbellsville University's School of Nursing, and the construction of the Ransdell Chapel is well underway. Also, for the second straight year, a new addition to the Women's Residence Village has opened.

In his seventh year as president of the university, Dr. Michael V. Carter has continued to build a campus that can keep up with continual record enrollment here at CU, which is, once again, more than 2,000 students. The institution has truly come a long way in one hundred years.

Yes, the year has been exciting. We have seen new buildings, new academic programs, and new faces on campus. Still, aside from all that is new at CU, one thing remains the same: CU is still a wonderful place to "Find Your Calling." The pages that follow in this yearbook tell the stories of students from all walks of life in their search to seek out a plan, a purpose, and a calling for their life.

Student Activities

Classes, reports, research papers, lectures, projects, homework, tests – there is plenty to drive any student crazy at CU. Fortunately for the students, Student Activities can relieve much of the day-to-day stress that comes with the college lifestyle.

Aside from seeing that the everyday operations of the Student Activity Center are organized and running smoothly, Andrew Ward, Director of Student Activities, constantly strives to make sure that there is plenty of leisure for everyone. From the very first weeks of school, Student Activities allows students the opportunity to forget about studies (temporarily, that is) and to have some fun during Welcome Week and Freshman Week activities.

Throughout the 2005–2006 school year, like every other year at CU, Student Activities has continued to provide fun for every student. For the athletic student, Student Activities provides numerous intramural sport opportunities, ranging from football to dodgeball. Students can also enjoy several Acoustic Café shows throughout the year, featuring coffee-house style music. Student Activities is also largely responsible for the Spring Formal dance, the Valentine Pageant, and many homecoming festivities.

On a day-to-day basis, Student Activities offers students use of a basketball court and a game room, which features ping pong, pool, foosball, and air hockey. It is no secret that student life can be hectic, and students at CU are thankful for the many distractions provided by Student Activities.

Welcome Week

Welcome work, welcome play; welcome back to CU for a new school year.

There is no better way to start the year off right than to come together with old friends and new acquaintances in fellowship and hard work – and that is exactly what happened during Welcome Week 2005.

Both returning and new students came together to celebrate the start of a new year, enjoying a different welcome-week activity every day of the week. Among the activities was the welcome back block party and dance: a night filled with music, food, and plenty of fun. Students also enjoyed a hilarious display of lack of inhibition, as world renowned hypnotist Frederick Winters led willing volunteers through various embarrassing situations on the stage of the University Theater. Throughout the rest of the week there was a Baptist Campus Ministries (BCM) picnic, Dorm Wars, a coed volleyball tournament, and a campuswide weekend retreat led by the BCM.

Not only did students play hard, but they also worked hard during the Freshmen Work Day sponsored by Kentucky Heartland Outreach (KHO). All incoming freshmen and transfer students were divided into work groups and led by upper classmen in a community service project, with projects ranging from picking up trash in the park to roofing a house. If there is one thing that can bring students together more than fellowship, it is working together for one single cause, and giving glory to the Lord.

With all of the fellowship and hard work, Welcome Week 2005 was truly one to remember.

Freshmen Week

Incoming freshmen start their college life with a week to remember

With all of the activities at CU at the beginning of the school year, everyone has reason to be excited, especially the freshmen. After all, for freshmen, college is an entire life change: new living habits, new eating habits, and (hopefully) new study habits. To welcome in the freshman class, Freshmen Week 2005 was filled with activities to help freshmen adjust to their newfound lifestyles.

Every year, Freshmen Week is a chance for incoming freshmen to get out and socialize with other freshmen during scheduled activities each day of the week. This year, the week started with the first BCM worship service of the year, giving freshmen a chance to come out of their dorms and worship with their new classmates. Also featured during the week were a cookout on President Carter's lawn, a showing of the movie "Sahara" under the stars, and a night of music in the Acoustic Café.

As usual, the incoming freshmen this year was a wonderful and promising class, and there was no better way to start the year off for them than with Freshmen Week 2005.

Family Weekend

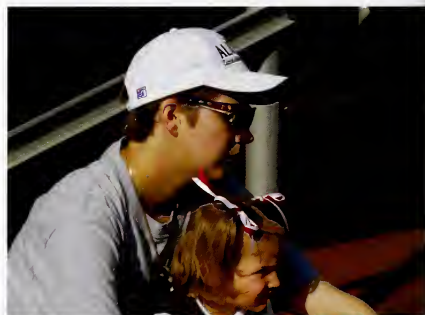

Families of CU students get a taste of campus life as they visit for a weekend of fun

CU is a school that has features that create an exceptional family atmosphere, from the small class sizes to the caring faculty and staff. However, as much as the university feels like home, nothing is quite like bringing family to campus.

Family Weekend 2005 produced an atmosphere at CU that would make any family feel at home. On Friday night of the weekend, students and their families enjoyed a barbecue on Montgomery Library Lawn, combining good food with great fellowship. Following dinner was the much anticipated "Dave and Ed Show" hosted by Dave Walters, Vice President of Admissions and Student Services, and Ed Pavy, Campus Minister. The show was filled with hilarious performances from the student body, and was won by Luke Prior, Kyle Franklin, and Bill McNamara, who took us to "A Whole New World" with their rendition of the classic song from Disney's Aladdin.

On Saturday, the fun continued for students and their families with the Big Maroon Club Tailgate, which preceded the afternoon's football game featuring the Fighting Tigers of Campbellsville vs. Pikeville College. All in all, the weekend was a huge success, bringing families together on campus to enjoy fellowship and fun.

Homecoming 2005

Current students, faculty and staff, and alumni celebrate that CU is “Ahead of Her Time”

Campbellsville University – to students it is school, to faculty and staff it is a workplace; but to alumni, it is home. This year, CU continued its wonderful tradition of exciting homecoming activities and events that gave current students, faculty and staff, alumni, and members of the community something to be proud of.

The theme for Homecoming 2005 was “Ahead of Her Time,” which was represented very creatively in the annual Homecoming float competition. Nearly every organization on campus made a float based on the theme, and the floats were displayed during the Homecoming parade. Among other events during the Homecoming weekend was a community car show, a presentation of the play “God’s Favorite” presented by Starr Garrett and the CU theater department, and a display of fundraising booths by various student organizations.

No homecoming would be complete without athletics, and Homecoming 2005 was no exception. The Tiger Marching Band led the CU football team in a pep rally on Friday night, which boosted the Fighting Tigers on to a victory over the Cumberland University football team the following afternoon. At halftime of the game, Vanessa Cross, representing Stapp Hall, was announced as the 2005 Homecoming Queen.

Framed with tradition, fun, and excitement, Homecoming 2005 will be fondly remembered by students, faculty and staff, and CU alumni everywhere.

Valentine Pageant

"Girls Just Want to Have Fun" and that is exactly what they had.

Valentine's Weekend: a weekend for love, candy hearts, and of course, Campbellsville University's annual Valentine Pageant. This year, the crown was won by Kelli Cecil, a senior from Lebanon, Kentucky. The theme for the night was "Girls Just Want to Have Fun."

The nine contestants, representing a wide range of student organizations on campus, were judged based on poise, appearance, talent demonstration, and an interview conducted earlier in the week. The reigning queen, senior Anna Gordon, crowned Cecil, who represented the Harlequins Club. First runner-up was Natasha Adkins, representing Creative Ministries; and second runner-up was Casondra Radford, representing The Women's Residence Village. The Miss Congeniality award went to Teresa Shawgo, who represented the Sophomore Class.

During the talent section, Cecil performed "Adelaide's Lament," from the musical Guys and Dolls. Fittingly, her escort, Kevin Grumbles, won the title of Best Escort.

Student Life

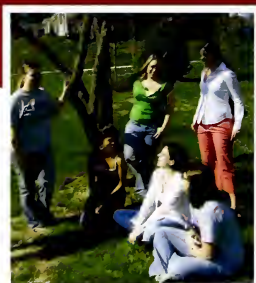

Hitting the books and writing research papers are indeed a part of life at CU. As any student will tell you, however, student life is so much more than that. As an institution that prides itself on developing well-rounded students who can contribute to society, Campbellsville University makes sure that there are plenty of opportunities for students to get involved in positive extra-curricular activities.

The 2005-2006 school year was full of on-campus activities for students to take advantage of. Whether students were interested in intramural sports, live music in the Acoustic Café, or fellowship and worship experiences, they were sure to find what they were looking for on campus.

Still, part of student life here at CU is getting off campus and making a difference in the community. Many students spend their free time working with Kentucky Heartland Outreach or Baptist Campus Ministries, where they have countless opportunities for community service and mission projects. A lot of students also involve themselves in local churches.

This year, CU continued its tradition of developing students who recognize that life is much more than school.

Community Service

It is true that Campbellsville University is a great place to find your calling . . . but it is also a great place to find a good sense of humility. In 2005-2006, CU continued its great tradition of helping students find ways to serve in the community.

From the very beginning of the school year, freshmen and upper-classmen alike had a chance to serve the community in the Freshmen Work Day sponsored by KHO. Numerous other opportunities were available throughout the year for students to be involved in a wide variety of community service projects through KHO.

Students also served through organizations like the BCM this year to reach out to the community, as they helped organize community block parties, nursing home visitation, and youth ministry through events such as 24 God.

No matter what talents students may have at CU, one thing is for certain: they have had plenty of opportunity to use that talent to serve our community during this school year.

Mission Trips

Students changing the world for Christ, near and far.

Year after year, CU's Baptist Campus Ministries sets itself apart through a continual emphasis on missions. With numerous opportunities to serve locally, nationally, and even worldwide, Campbellsville students can truly use their God-given talents to change the world for Christ.

This year, through the BCM, mission teams were sent to fourteen different locations. To name a few, international trips were taken to Poland and Costa Rica, and domestic trips were taken to San Francisco and New Mexico. A team even went to Hawaii (and yes, they actually did mission work!).

Teams were also sent on impromptu trips to Louisiana and Mississippi to help with hurricane disaster relief. Regardless of location, students who went on mission trips this year had the opportunity to not only help those in need, but to also experience the power of the Lord in their own lives.

Convocation

Students, faculty, and staff come together in worship

An essential key to Campbellsville University's success over the years has been a sense of unity among students, faculty, and staff. This year, CU continued that tradition, in one way, through the weekly convocation series.

In 2005-2006, convocation took on many different forms, ranging from traditional worship services to musical performances and comedy routines. Convocation is special, however, not because of any particular performance or speaker, but rather because it is a weekly event on campus where everyone can come together as a single, unified body in worship and fellowship.

People

The facilities are good. The classes are beneficial. What makes Campbellsville University great, however, is its people. When students, faculty, and staff come together as a unified body, an institution is transformed into a community. In CU's community, the administration is accessible, the professors are caring, and students are welcomed from all different walks of life.

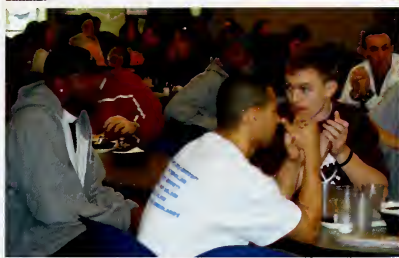

A continually growing body of students on the campus is the international student body. In 2005-2006, CU continued striving for cultural diversity amongst students, as there were over 125 international students representing 30 different countries attending the university. The diversity on campus gives students at CU the opportunity to experience culture from around the world, right here in central Kentucky.

Campbellsville University continues to be known as a place where professors know and care about their students. With a 13:1 student to faculty ratio, professors have the time to get to know students, and even help them in aspects of the students' lives not directly related to school.

Change is inevitable, especially on college campuses. However, as long as the people stay connected and caring at CU, this university will continue to be a great one.

CU great*

Clubs & Organizations

Regardless of academic interests or personal hobbies, every student at Campbellsville University has the opportunity to belong to one or more of the numerous student organizations. Belonging to an extracurricular club or two is one way to really get involved on campus, and in 2005-2006, students have continued to take advantage of that opportunity.

Students connecting beyond the classroom

There is no one reason for a student to join a club or organization, but many students realize that joining one can be a vital part of their overall university experience. Whether the club is a chapter of a national organization, or just a local group, student organizations offer many chances for students to serve in the community, travel to conventions, or just take part in fellowship with other students with similar interests.

All of the clubs here at CU, regardless of whether they are academically, religiously, or athletically oriented, have one thing in common: their purpose is to bring students together. Through student organizations this year, students have continued to connect with each other outside of the classroom, which is an invaluable asset to the family-like atmosphere here at CU.

World Community Club

The World Community Club works through the Office of International Relations and helps connect international students with other members of the student body. It is open to any international student and anyone interested in building friendships with those from another country. The club takes many tips and participates in various activities to educate the community and raise cultural awareness within the area.

Arts

It is truly a rarity to find such a small community with so much artistic talent. With so many talented students developing their gifts in music, theater, and visual art, it is no wonder that CU constantly stands out as a wonderful institution for students of the arts.

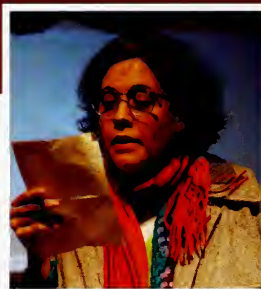

It is no secret that the music program at Campbellsville University is of the highest standard, and people of the university and of the community alike are constantly reminded of that quality through very regular concerts and performances. Students interested in instrumental music at CU have the opportunity to join in a wide range of performance groups like the university orchestra, concert band, jazz ensemble, and wind ensemble, just to name a few. For the vocally inclined music student, opportunities are available for performance through the university chorale, chamber choir, and concert chorus.

The theater program, now under the direction of Mrs. Starr Garrett, continued the tradition of great performances at CU during this year. One of the productions this year was Neil Simon's God's Favorite, a contemporary drama of the Biblical story of Job. Also, the CU theater program put on a production of All My Sons by Arthur Miller in the spring.

The visual art program at CU continued to contribute to the artistic side of the university this year through a number of art shows and exhibits. With exhibits put on by faculty and students alike throughout the year, there has been plenty to see for the art lover on campus.

Regardless of the medium – a canvas, a stage, or a musical instrument – CU continues to be a school where artists can flourish.

Marching Band

The 2005 season for the CU Tiger Marching Band (TMB) was filled with much excitement as this 100-plus member group performed in Campbellsville and across the state over a dozen times. The program for the 2005 TMB was called "A Composer's Showcase" and it featured music of one of the most recognized filmscore composers in the world, John Williams. Dazzling crowds with well-known melodies from some of the most popular movies of recent times, audiences were captivated by the powerful sounds, intricate marching and beautiful flag that made for a stunning and thrilling presentation.

In her first season as Director of the Tiger Marching Band was Jennifer L. Tinnell and joining her was newly named Assistant Director Marty Sharer. Together they led the band through a busy season of performances at all home football games as well as exhibitions around the state including Glasgow, Taylor Co, LaRue Co., and Hopkins Co. Central for the KMEA Class AAA West Regional Championships. The TMB also made the trip to Owensboro, Kentucky where they entertained the fans at half-time and cheered on the Fighting Tiger Football team as they tangled with the Kentucky Wesleyan Panthers.

Tiger Athletics

Campbellsville University has long been an institution that challenges its students to meet their fullest potential, not only spiritually and academically, but also athletically. In CU's wide range of athletic programs, athletes with all sorts of different talent can participate. In the following pages, you will find that the 2005-2006 school year was nothing short of a complete success for athletes at Campbellsville University, as over 100 CU athletes, competing in 16 sports, were recognized with All Mid-South Conference, All Region XI, and Academic All-Conference awards.

Still, Campbellsville University Athletics, regardless of the level of success of any one particular program, has always been about more than just athletic competition. This year, CU athletes have continued to have the opportunity to grow and develop, not only on the field or the court, but in every aspect of life. CU athletics are founded upon principles of discipline and teamwork, and student athletes are encouraged to grow in fellowship with their teammates, and leadership in every area of life.

CU has enjoyed a long tradition of success in Athletics, and that is certainly a tradition that continued in 2005-2006.

Fighting Tigers Make Progress in a Rebuilding Year

In the midst of a rebuilding year, the Fighting Tiger Football team was able to mature as a team, and look forward to positive things in the future. As the first full season under Head Coach Jim Deaton, it was a challenging year for the Tigers, who finished the season with an overall record of 3-8. The Tigers lost a number of close contests, but were able to have some success along the way as well.

Several of the CU football players were recognized for their achievements both on the field and in the classroom this year. Ten Fighting Tiger football players were All Mid-South Conference selections. Senior Josh Dye and freshman Gregory Fountain were named First Team Offensive All Mid-South Conference selections. Freshman John McCann was named First Team Defensive All Mid-South Conference. Junior Jerre Fly joined seniors Josh Morton, Stephen Hatchell, and Eric Moore as Honorable Mention Offense selections. The Honorable Mention Defense selections for CU were juniors Lee Holt and Jonathan Messick, and freshman Sheldon Estes.

Four players were named to the Academic All-Conference Team. Sophomores Justin Mansfield, Chase Miles, Matt Murphy, and Kevin Vacini all earned this honor. The Fighting Tiger football team waits with anticipation for next season, when they will return as a more experienced team.

Tigers Enjoy Successful Season and NAIA National Tournament Appearance

For the first time in several years, the Tiger basketball team returned a strong core of players from the previous season. At the beginning of the season, Head Coach Keith Adkins said, "Our recruiting philosophy is starting to pay off, and I think 20 wins and a National Tournament bid is realistic this year." He was right.

Adkins and his coaching staff were looking for a major improvement from last season, and it is safe to say that they found it: the Tigers finished the season with an overall record of 27-6 and made it to the sweet sixteen in the NAIA National Tournament. The successful season can be attributed to good coaching, talented players, and a dedicated "Campbellsville Crazy's" fan base.

After a tremendously successful season, it is no surprise that many CU players received recognition for their accomplishments. Zach Ingles, a 6'2 senior, was named as a Second Team NAIA Division I Men's Basketball All-American. Ingles, who transferred from Eastern Kentucky University, averaged 19.1 points per game, shooting 39.7% from the three point line. He also earned a Mid-South Conference Co-Player of the Year Award. Joining Ingles on the All Mid-South Conference Team was sophomore Zach Allender, who averaged 14.2 points and 9.3 rebounds per game. Several players were also recognized for their outstanding academic accomplishments. Chad Robinson, a 6'1 junior, was named as a 2006 Daktronics-NAIA All American Scholar Athlete. Robinson joined Jeremy Taylor and Corey Mitchell as Academic All-Conference selections.

Head Coach Keith Adkins was rewarded for the terrific season, as he was named Mid-South Conference Coach of the Year and picked up his 100th career win along the way.

Women's Basketball

Lady Tigers Gain Experience Through A Challenging Season

With NAIA Hall of Fame Coach Donna Wise at the helm for the Lady Tigers, CU fans had high expectations for this season, as they do for every season. After all, during Wise's 30-year tenure, the Lady Tigers have enjoyed 22 seasons with 20 or more wins. Yet, this year, with only one senior on the team, the Lady Tigers found themselves in the midst of a rebuilding year, putting together a final record of 12-19.

Still, it is hard not to think of this season, at least in some respects, as another successful year in Lady Tiger basketball. Coach Wise describes the "heart of a champion" as one filled with a competitive spirit. By those standards, the Lady Tigers had a lot of players with hearts of champions this season.

Several players for the Lady Tigers received special recognition for their achievements both on the court and in the classroom. Jenny Noort, a 6'2 senior, was named as an All Mid-South Conference team member for 2006, averaging 14.1 points and 8.3 rebounds per game. Julija Ilic, a 6'5 junior, was an Honorable Mention All-Conference selection. The Lady Tigers also had 3 players named Academic All-Conference team members: Jenny Noort, Megan Murphy, and Lauren Wathen, who all maintained at least a 3.25 cumulative grade point average for the year. Noort, going above and beyond, maintained a 4.0 grade point average for her entire college career, making her a Campbellsville University co-valedictorian this year.

Tigers Take Conference Tournament Title for the Second Year in a Row

After such a successful season in the 2004-2005 school year, much was expected from Head Coach Beauford Sanders and this year's Tigers Baseball team. The team did not disappoint. The Tigers finished an impressive second in overall standings in MSC regular season play with a conference record of 13-6, and for the second straight year, the Fighting Tigers were the MSC Tournament Champions. This tournament championship was the fourth MSC Tournament Title captured by the Tigers, and the win enabled the team to compete in the NAIA Region XI Tournament in Lebanon, Tennessee.

With such a successful regular and post season in 2006, it comes as no surprise that many CU players earned recognition for outstanding achievement both on and off the field. Six Tigers were named to the All Mid-South Conference First team, which was more selections than any other school. Those players were Hector Urbaneja, Temple MacDonald, Daniel Hatcher, Andrew Koop, Morgan Carlile, and Donnie Johnson. Honorable Mention Selections included Jason Neufeld, and Matt Antle. Nine Tigers were also recognized for academic achievement in 2005-2006. Antle, Carlile, Hatcher, Koop, and Neufeld, were joined by Anthony Haban, Shad Lacefield, Zach Lewis, and Jacob Martion as Academic All-Conference Selections. Donnie Johnson was also named as a First Team NAIA All-American. Temple MacDonald was Honorable Mention All-American. He went 7-1 on the season, and held a CU record setting ERA of 0.81.

Tiger Track

In only its third season of existence, the Campbellsville Track and Field team continued to build for the future in 2006. Boasting its most complete team to date, the Tigers and Lady Tigers competed at a high level in all the meets they went to. Interim Head Coach Derek Cronin led the Tigers this season. They competed at the prestigious University of Cincinnati Invitational against many NCAA Division I teams and saw first hand what can happen in the future with continued hard work.

The Mid-South Conference Championships were held at the University of the Cumberlands and the Tigers and Lady Tigers saw three athletes score very well. Sophomore Laura Spraggins finished 2nd in the pole vault, junior Doris Wawafee finished 2nd in both the shot put and discus and sophomore middle distance runner Jon Buchanan finished 5th in the 800 meters.

"This season was one of ups and downs for many of our athletes. Some struggled with injuries which prevented the excellence they envisioned having this season. Overall, both teams competed well given the fact we had a late start to the season with the hiring of Coach Cronin not taking place until late February. Both teams are making progress. Anytime a program is still relatively new, it will take a few seasons to get to where we want to be. We are building for the future and the future certainly looks bright," said Assistant Coach Mark Rowe.

Cross Country

The 2006 CU cross country teams continued making progress towards the top of the Mid-South Conference and Region XI. The girl's team capped off what may have been their strongest team in years with a 2nd place finish at the Mid-South Conference Championship and the Region XI Championship. Freshman Miranda Meeks gave the coaching staff a glimpse of what may become a very bright future with her 2nd place finish at the Mid-South Conference/Region XI Championships. For her efforts, Meeks was named Mid-South Conference Freshman of the Year.

On the men's side, a relatively young team finished the season in impressive fashion finishing 3rd at the Mid-South Conference Championships and 4th at the Region XI Championship. The team was led by senior team captain T. J. Eubanks and the supporting cast of Jacob Smith, Andre Braima, Zach Hayden and Jon Buchanan rounded out the top five scorers.

The highlight of the season was the trip to the Memphis Twilight Classic in Memphis, Tennessee, as well as the men's and women's victories at the Asbury College Invitational in which the men scored a perfect score of 15 points, while the women won the meet with 18 points.

"Great things are in store for both programs. This season just indicated to many that our quest to be the premiere program in the Mid-South Conference is certainly moving in the right direction. With everyone coming back on the women's side next year, and a very strong group of freshmen on the men's squad, the best is yet to come for Campbellsville cross country," commented assistant coach Mark Rowe.

Tigers Build for a Positive Future

After a disappointing season last year, Head Coach Adam Preston and the Tiger Soccer team looked for major improvement in 2005-2006. While the team still finished only 6-10-2 on the season, it is clear that they are moving in the right direction.

Even in the midst of a tough season, several players earned recognition for outstanding individual achievements. Goalkeeper Aaron Harkins was named as a First Team All Mid-South Conference Selection. Named to the All Mid-South Conference Second Team were Bill Ayodo and Juan Carlos Gascue. Players earning All Mid-South Conference Honorable Mention were Luke Lawless, Shawn Whitney, Tyler Vessels, Chris Carey, Daniel Paz, Brent Salomon, and Leonardo Hirnbruchner.

The Tigers also had several players who were named as Academic All Mid-South Conference Selections. Lawless, Salomon, and Vessels were joined by Chris Adkins, Jonathan Lilly, Brian Munafo, and Andrew Stinson.

Tiger Cheerleaders

Co-Ed Squad Excels at Cheering for Others and Competing Themselves

The Campbellsville University co-ed cheerleading squad strives to build a team of men and women both physically and spiritually. This year, they continued in their goal to support CU athletes and to compete while representing Christian principles and ideals both on and off campus. By those standards, it is clear that this year was another successful year in Tiger Cheerleading.

This year's squad played a very important role during athletic events, motivating the fans of Tiger Football, and Men's and Women's Basketball to get on their feet and cheer for their team. Just as any cheerleader would be likely to tell you, however, one cannot forget that the cheerleaders not only cheer for athletes, but are athletes themselves.

The Tiger Cheerleaders placed 2nd this year in the Mid-South Conference Cheer Championships, and several members of the squad earned individual honors. Stephanie Russell and Shelley Breeding were recognized as All Mid-South Conference Cheerleaders. Russell also joined Emily Keck, Janice Hill, and Ryan Donohue as Academic All-Conference Cheerleaders.

Lady Tigers Take MSC Regular Season and Tournament Titles

An impressive season last year left the Lady Tiger Softball Team hungry for more success in the 2005-2006 school year. Led by Head Coach Shannon Wathen, the Lady Tigers found success, and plenty of it. Not only did the team once again capture the MSC Regular Season Title, but they also won the Tournament Title this year as well with an impressive victory of the University of the Cumberlands. The Lady Tigers went to the NAIA Region XI Tournament in Jeffersontown, Kentucky as a #3 seed. When all was said and done, the Lady Tigers enjoyed a tremendously successful season with an overall record of 40-15.

Along with the success that the Lady Tigers enjoyed as a team, many players were recognized for their outstanding individual accomplishments. CU had an impressive six players named to the All Mid-South Conference Team. Those players were Amanda Martin, Amber Shrum, Lauren Wathen, Michelle Baker, Amanda Nuyt, and Kelly Vooris. Recognized for their accomplishments off the field as well, Vooris and Wathen were also named as Academic All-Conference Selections.

Additionally, Nuyt was named the Mid-South Conference Player of the Year, maintaining a .329 batting average on the season. Vooris was also given special recognition, as she was named Mid-South Conference Softball Pitcher of the Year. Vooris maintained an incredible ERA of 0.88 on the season.

Finally, in just her fourth season, Head Coach Shannon Wathen was named as the Mid-South Conference Coach of the Year for the second straight season. Wathen picked up her 100th win this season along the way.

Tiger Volleyball

Lady Tigers Finish Another Successful Season, Finishing Conference Runner-up

During the 2005-2006 school year, the CU volleyball program continued its commitment to stressing academic, athletic, social, and spiritual excellence by developing personal growth in a caring environment. They managed to do so in the midst of a tremendously successful season on the court. The Lady Tigers finished the season with a 28-12 overall record, and finished runner-up in the Mid-South Conference Tournament. The team advanced as a #2 seed in the Mid-South Conference Region XI Tournament, and made it to the semi-final round before their season came to an end.

With a season filled by team success, it comes as no surprise that many of the Lady Tiger Volleyball players were recognized for their individual achievements as well. Amy Eckenfels and Molly Hall were named as First Team All Mid-South Conference Selections. Eckenfels was given additional recognition, as she was named Mid-South Conference Co-Player of the Year.

On the Second Team All Mid-South Conference were Jenna Richardson, Tara Whittington, and Sara Baker. Richardson was also named as an Academic All-Conference Selection, and she was joined by Rachel Heath and Lyssa Drummond.

Tiger Wrestling

Another Successful Season for CU's Young Wrestling Program

After a very impressive first season last year, many looked for the CU wrestling program to make big waves in the 2005-2006 season. Under the direction of Head Coach Franky James, the Tigers did just that. In their second year, the Tigers finished 6-5 in dual meets, and placed fourth in the East Region Tournament. Even more impressively, the young program sent twelve wrestlers to the NAIA National Tournament and finished the year with a 14th place ranking in the national standings.

Aside from team success, several of the CU wrestlers earned recognition for individual achievements. Freshmen David Clemens and Glen Jackson joined senior Chris Seta in earning All-American Honors this year. Clemens finished 7th in the National Tournament, Jackson finished 6th, and Seta finished 5th. Seta also managed to defeat the eventual National Champion in the East Region Final.

The CU Wrestling Team will return 11 wrestlers who competed in the NAIA National Tournament.

Tiger Golf

Another Successful Season for Both the Men's and Women's Teams

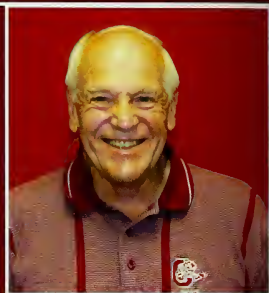

2006 marked another successful CU golf season, as both the men's and women's teams finished strong. Head Coach P. J. Throckmorton certainly had even more to be proud of, as he was named this year's Mid-South Conference Men's Coach of the Year.

The men's team won the Mid-South Conference Tournament and went on to finish as runner-up in the NAIA Region XI Tournament. After excellent performances in the tournament, CU's Philip Wolfe and Scott Webb were selected for the All-Tournament Team.

The Lady Tiger Golf Team also met success this year, as they finished as runner-up in the Mid-South Conference Tournament, and took 3rd place in the NAIA Region XI Tournament. Leading the Lady Tigers this year was Lauren Scholl, who won the combined Mid-South Conference/NAIA Region XI Tournament. The win qualified Scholl for participation in the NAIA Women's National Golf Tournament.

Tiger Tennis

Coach Sullivan was pleased with his Men's Team success this season. With one key player redshirted, the team finished the regular season second in the Mid-South Conference.

The players stepped up, especially the bottom of the lineup. They played together very well, which contributed to their success.

Coach Thomas is in her first year as the new women's tennis coach. She is attempting to rebuild the program and is very impressed with the team's performance. "I have a great group of young women," said Thomas. "They work hard on the court and in the classroom. Their heart and determination makes me so proud."

Along the Trail

While Campbellsville University remains an institution dedicated to preserving the same Christian principles that it was founded on, the appearance of the campus is one thing that changes more and more with every passing year. Dr. Michael V. Carter, in his seventh year as Campbellsville University President, has made it a point of emphasis, year after year, to see CU maintain a campus that can keep up with continual record enrollment. The 2005-2006 school year was no different.

One of the most noteworthy changes to the campus this year was the addition of the new two-building E. Bruce Heilman Student Complex. The complex consists of the Winters Dining Hall, and the Davenport Student Commons, which houses The Grill and a Starbucks kiosk. Another exciting addition to the campus this year was the CU School of Nursing building. This facility promises great things for the university, as forty students will be admitted into the first class of the nursing program, which will begin in the fall of 2006.

Other changes on the campus included the completion of Phase III of the Women's Residence Village, lighted tennis courts, and additional parking on the perimeter of the campus. Also, CU has begun another very important building project: The Ransdell Chapel. The chapel, set to open during the 2006-2007 academic year, will allow Campus Ministries, the School of Theology, and the School of Music to offer exciting new opportunities for students.

In a sense, Campbellsville University will always remain the same: maintaining its status as an institution dedicated to Christian principles. Still, as the university strives to remain among the top Christian higher education institutions in the country, changes and improvements to the campus and facilities will continue in years to come.

Closing

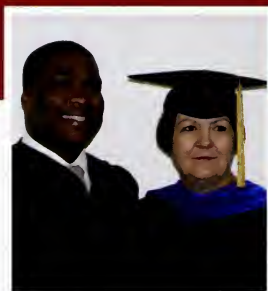

Another year come, and another year gone. The end of the year is always a bittersweet time for students at CU, particularly for the seniors. For those students who have made CU their home for the past four years (or five), the end of the year is the end of a chapter in their lives.

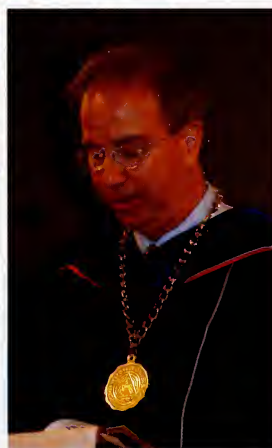

The exciting part is that the end of one chapter always means the beginning of another. While there will undoubtedly be remembrances of things now past, graduating CU students can look toward the future, knowing that even brighter things are ahead.

Campbellsville University is indeed a great place to "Find Your Calling," but it is also a great place to prepare one for the future ahead, once that calling has been found. For those graduating students who have waited with excitement for this milestone in their lives, they are sure to be successful in whatever they go on to do, having matured during their journey at CU.

For many underclassmen, graduation may still seem an eternity away. The years that follow will be years for building more memories and relationships here at CU. One thing, however, is still for certain: time is not standing still, and every day is bringing all of the students at CU closer to that next chapter in their life. Every beginning must have an end, and the goal for students here at CU continues to be to start strong, and finish stronger.

Message from the President

As we look back on this past 2005-06 academic year, we can see that it has been a year of growth and improvement. The university had its 12th semester of record enrollment of 2,282 students in fall 2005 followed by a record spring 2006 enrollment of 2,168 students.

Campbellsville University continues to make great strides in the academic program areas. FIRST Class made its debut in the fall semester. This newly established program focused on character, leadership and financial stewardship as three primary topics. Student mentors engaged freshmen through interactive learning experiences to help them transition into the college learning environment. We look forward to this ever-expanding freshman program as we strive to enhance the learning process and the adjustments to university life.

The E. Bruce Heilman Student Complex was completed and was a tremendous addition to our campus community. Whether enjoying a meal in the Winters Dining Hall, or one of the many opportunities in the Davenport Students Commons ranging from having a Starbucks between classes, hanging out in the commuter lounge, checking your post office box or visiting the Barnes & Noble Bookstore, students enjoyed spending time in this new hub of activity.

Other construction projects included the School of Nursing, which was dedicated on April 25, 2006. The Residence Village (Phase III) was completed and open to women for the fall of 2005. The Carver School of Social Work classroom addition offered valuable learning space. No doubt, you have noticed our new tennis complex on campus where students can enjoy recreational tennis play.

When you return in the fall, the Ransdell Chapel will be under roof and by the Spring semester, we will be able to hold convocations and other special events in this facility. The Chapel will afford the CU community an opportunity to enhance our worship opportunities.

You will also notice construction of the new School of Education building, which will be located next to the School of Nursing. Other construction plans include a new auxiliary gym for intramural sports and completion of the second floor of the Hawkins Athletic Complex.

As you can see, Campbellsville University has grown in both programs and facilities, but more importantly the spirit of Christ is alive and growing around campus. Through the vast work of our mission teams (both at home and abroad), spirit-filled campus revivals and ministry opportunities to the community, our students are truly learning and practicing steward leadership.

We will continue to strive to further Campbellsville University in Christian higher education and service; we must thank our dedicated faculty and staff. Without their hard work and example we would not be where we are today.

We pray that the 370 Campbellsville University graduates will be a force of betterment for our communities as they continue to lead others in Christian example. These students are true testaments that as you study and learn at CU you can "find your calling" for life.

Most Cordially,

Michael V. Carter
President

Colophon

The 2006 Maple Trail was published by Jostens Publishing Company in Clarksville, Tennessee. The 9x12 book contains 168 pages.

The collection of photographs featured inside this book were taken by the Office of University Communications, Sports Information Office, Supertone Studio, and the Maple Trail Staff.

As I near the completion of this book I am reminded of Hillary Clinton's statement "It takes a village to raise a child." I am convinced it takes an entire campus to complete a yearbook. I would especially like to thank Dr. Michael V. Carter, Dr. Frank Cheatham, Mr. Otto Tennant, and Dr. John Burch for their support and encouragement when I felt it was an impossible task. I would also like to thank Anne Galito, Bryan Blair, and Joan McKinney for their help in putting this together. Billy Hargis, our Jostens yearbook representative, always made himself available to help us in anyway possible.

I would like to thank Amy Ellis for laying out the book and entering the student names. I would especially like to thank Amanda Hicks who stepped up and helped me meet the deadlines. Without her the deadlines would not have been met. Also I thank Nathan Gower for the wonderful writing job and for his commitment to see the project completed.

This has certainly been a learning experience for me. I am thankful for each and every person who has had a part in the completion of this book. I mostly thank God for the opportunity to be a part of Campbellsville University and for providing the support to complete this book. May God bless each of you.

Therefore, since we are surrounded by such a great cloud of witnesses, let us throw off everything that hinders and the sin that so easily entangles, and let us run with perseverance the race marked out for us.
Hebrews 12: 1, NIV
